Re: Grant Jones

Dear Parents:

It is a pleasure to inform you that in accordance with the appropriate state regulations your child has been identified as having very superior intellectual ability. Pupils so identified are entitled to participate in special programs or projects which are qualitatively different from the regular school program and are funded by the state. These additional state funds are for the purpose of promoting the objective of challenging every child to achieve his full intellectual potential.

Your student's present and future teachers will have access to the intellectual assessment instrumental in identifying his superior ability and can further plan to provide for his individual differences and abilities. Although your child has exceptional abilities in certain areas, it is well to remember he is more like than unlike his age mates.

Information concerning the enrichment program for which your child is eligible will be forthcoming from his school.

Sincerely,

Lee R Powers
